PAPERS, 1851-1894

DESCRIPTION

The collection combines original material and photocopies concerning the military career of Clarence E. Bennett. It includes Bennett's original diary of the Utah Expedition, 1857-1859, and two original diaries from 1862-63 concerning the military in Arizona with notes through 1866. It also contains original correspondence from Bennett's wife in San Bernardino, 1864-66, "Synopsis of Indian Scouts and Their Results from the Year 1864," transcripts of Bennett's service record and some biographical information. The diaries describe conditions at the various military posts including Camp McDowell. The reports and photocopies include Bennett's West Point Diary, 1851-1853, copies of his court martial papers, 1865 and documents concerning his military career, 1867-1894.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Clarence E. Bennett, army officer, was born at New Lisbon, New York and went to West Point. In 1857, he participated in the expedition to Utah but was forced to resign after marrying a Mormon girl despite doubts about the legality of a divorce from a previous marriage. He then settled in San Bernardino, California to farm and organize a local militia to protect settlers from secessionists at the beginning of the Civil War. He was appointed major in the 1st California Volunteers in 1863. He briefly commanded Fort Yuma and then was stationed at Fort Craig, New Mexico. In 1864, he moved on to Fort Bowie. In 1865, he established Camp (later Fort) McDowell. He was mustered out of the Volunteer service in 1866 and was commissioned a second lieutenant that year. He eventually retired as a lieutenant colonel of the 11th Infantry in 1897. He died at Fort McPherson, Georgia in 1902.
