

ARIZONA HISTORICAL SOCIETY BOARD MEMBER

TOM FOSTER

Eastern Chapter Representative

Tom Foster is the Executive Director of the Bullion Plaza Cultural Center & Museum in Miami, Arizona. He arrived in Arizona from Southern California in August 1971 and completed a course of study at Arizona State University in 1974 with a BAE in education and an Art Minor. During his career, he has worked at various Arizona museums as well as offering consulting, restorations and research services.

Tom has served on the Arizona Historical Society Board of Directors for several years and was recently appointed for another term by Governor Ducey. In addition to the Arizona Historical Society, Tom also serves as the President of the Municipal Property Corporation in conjunction with the Town of Miami, as well as the Globe-Miami Regional Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, Cobre Valley Center for the Arts Board, and the Habitat for Humanity.

As time allows Tom still enjoys reading, hiking, exploring and visiting different historic sites and museums throughout Arizona. He has discovered - Once captured by the Desert Southwest through its history and beauty there is no other place like it anywhere even in the heat of summer.
