PROCESSED BY: Volunteer Leonard Coombs and Archives staff, 2019-2023

HISTORICAL NOTE: The Tucson Film Office was established by the city around 1986 to attract filmmakers to Tucson and Southern Arizona and to facilitate filming. The office became part of Visit Tucson (Metropolitan Tucson Convention & Visitors Bureau) in 2003 and began to use the name Film Tucson.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE: This collection consists of photographs of buildings, businesses, streets, and other locations in Tucson and Southern Arizona (some in Sonora, Mexico). The photos were taken and collected to provide suggestions for filming locations for filmmakers working with Film Tucson. In addition, the collection contains a film, "Blue Summer," created in 1987 by Duval Advertising for the Tucson Convention & Visitors Bureau. The film was intended to promote summer tourism.

As received at the archives, the collection included files organized and described by Film Tucson, but not arranged in any particular order. In processing the collection, the original file descriptions were retained arranged in seven series:

- Series I: Tucson
- Series II: Arizona Outside Tucson
- Series III: Roads in Arizona
- Series IV: Mexico
- Series V: Unidentified Locations

Series VI: Productions and Events
Series VII: Film “Blue Summer”

Series I: Tucson, is subdivided into topics (listed below). Series II: Arizona Outside Tucson, contains files for many towns and other places in Southern Arizona, mainly in Pima, Pinal, and Cochise Counties. Many of these locations (listed below) are further subdivided into topics similar to those in the first series.

Series III: Roads in Arizona, contains files for various roads and highways outside Tucson. Series IV: Mexico, contains files for a small number of places in Sonora, mainly border towns. Series V: Unidentified Locations, contains files for places in Arizona that were lacking descriptions, and that the archivists were unable to identify. We welcome assistance in identifying these locations.

The final two series relate to the work of Film Tucson. Series VI: Productions and Events contain files showing production work on projects supported by Film Tucson, as well as some events. Series VII: Film includes 4 reels of 35mm color film and two reels of 1” magnetic tape film transfer, of the 1987 advertising film “Blue Summer.” The films haven’t been viewed, and are described solely based on their labels.

Access Note: Most of the photographs in this collection were taped together into panoramas by Film Tucson. The processing archivists decided to leave the taped images as-is in order to preserve the unique nature of the collection. Because of this, in some cases the tape may have shifted causing multiple photos to stick together. If you encounter stuck-together photos please don't try to separate them; ask an archivist for assistance.
